JILPT Data Archives

In November 2009, JILPT has started, as a data archive service, providing individual data of questionnaires collected labor for researches/surveys of JILPT and others to researchers, etc. outside JILPT in order to use for statistical analyses/researches which will contribute to the promotion of labor welfare and economic development. Released data are individual data of questionnaires in which incorrect or inaccurate records are corrected or removed and are provided to universities, research institutions, government institutions, etc. only if statistical analyses/researches are for noncommercial purposes and are beneficial to the promotion of labor welfare and economic development.
